Subodh Kant Sahai
Minister for Tourism
Government of India

The Tourism, Travel and Hospitality Industry in India today stands poised for unprecedented growth in the coming years given the buoyancy of Indian economy. We are making all efforts to make Tourism as our main political and economic agenda given its proven role in stimulating inclusive economic growth, employment generation and social integration.

The Ministry of Tourism is committed for the integrated development of tourism with active participation of various State Governments, Union Territories and other stakeholders in the industry. Recently announced initiatives of the Ministry including the formation of the Hospitality Development Promotion Board and the reconstitution of the National Tourism Advisory Council are aimed towards this objective.

One of my major concerns which remain today is the stagnant share of India Tourism in the World Tourism market. We all have to think afresh on our strategies and realign them with the latest global trends. We will not be able to increase our share in the World Tourism market unless we think proactively, innovatively and remain competitive.

To promote excellence and recognize the efforts put in by various stakeholders in development and promotion of India Tourism, this Ministry has instituted National Tourism Awards.

My appeal to all stakeholders on the occasion is to work together with an innovative mind and positive approach for development of India Tourism in a sustainable and responsible manner.

I congratulate all the winners of the National Tourism Awards 2009-10 and wish them success in their future endeavours.

(Subodh Kant Sahai)
The tourism sector in our country is characterized by close, constant and constructive cooperation between Government and Travel and Hospitality Industry. It is this cooperation and synergy that has enabled Indian Tourism to emerge from serious challenges in recent years. Our endeavour in the Ministry is to maintain constant dialogue with all stakeholders of Indian Tourism, Trade and Hospitality sectors to enable tourism to play a prominent role in employment generation and economic development of our country.

Institution of National Tourism Awards for acknowledging outstanding performance of State Governments and Trade and Hospitality Sectors are designed to motivate higher levels of performance. It is heartening that our joint efforts have now become an acknowledged source of motivation and inspiration to set higher goals for promotion of tourism in the country.

I extend my heartiest congratulations to all the Award winners and take this opportunity to thank all stakeholders in Tourism, Trade and Hospitality Industry for their continuous support and commitment to the cause of growth of India Tourism.

(R. H. Khwaja)
Madhya Pradesh is known as the heart of incredible India not only because of its geographical location but it is also a home of heritage, culture and wildlife. State has touched new heights during the year 2009-10 with an annual revenue growth rate exceeding 25% in consecutive years.

The performance on the tourist infrastructure development front is even more striking. The utilization of central grants, quality and pace of construction activities, computerized monitoring and project management systems are highly appreciable.

The highly creative promotional campaigns on TV, Radio and in the print media have also attracted nationwide attention. Formation of a land bank and framing of Tourism Policy for attracting private investment, the State has again taken the lead in doing pioneering work.
Andhra Pradesh, considered the “Essence of Incredible India”, has great diversity and richness of tourist destinations. The State Government agencies have ensured that tourism infrastructure of good quality is available at all the destinations for the benefit of the visitors. The Andhra Pradesh Tourism Development Corporation runs 53 hotels with 1077 rooms, a fleet of 126 buses for tour packages and a water fleet with 120 boats for pleasure cruises. There are 10 wayside amenities which are considered to be a model in the country. Creation of new infrastructure and augmentation of existing infrastructure were taken up at 19 tourist destinations during the year 2009-10.
Acclaimed by National Geographic Traveller as ‘one of the ten paradises of the world’ and chosen by BBC as ‘one of the ten unforgettable things to do before you die’, Kerala is India’s only tourism Superbrand. Blessed with a rich bounty of natural attractions and some of India’s best social indices, what makes Kerala the destination for tomorrow is its focus on sustainable tourism. Stringent quality control, planned development, conservation and preservation efforts… Kerala’s stress on sustainability is perfectly complemented by innovative marketing and promotional techniques, helping it evolve into a paradigm for ‘responsible tourism’.

Tourism offers Kerala the best alternative to meet its objectives of reducing unemployment and kick-starting economic growth. It has also become the perfect tool for enhancing the environment, preserving the State’s culture and heritage and distributing economic development throughout the State with no environmental setbacks.
The magic of vibrant Rajasthan - its rich heritage, colourful culture, exciting desert safaris, shining sand dunes, amazing variety, lush forests and varied wildlife - makes it a destination nonpareil. Rajasthan is often portrayed as one vast open-air museum, with its relics so well preserved that it delights even the most skeptical traveller.

Rajasthan has something for everyone – one has to choose an activity appropriate to one's temperament.

Modern Rajasthan is now offering amenities comparable to those available elsewhere in the world. It has remarkable roads and transport systems.
Situated beneath the majestic guardian deity Mount Khangchendzonga, Sikkim is a land that inspires divine imagination in the hearts of those who visit this beautiful State. A unique land surrounded by visual vistas, rich flora and fauna, environment friendly and warm and hospitable people with rich cultural heritage, Sikkim is indeed a destination for all seasons and all reasons.

Covering only 0.2% of the geographical area of the country, the State harnesses about 26% of the Country's total floral biodiversity. Realizing the need to practice a responsible tourism for sustainability, the State was the first to ban the use of plastic bags in the country and Green mission has been initiated towards ensuring environment friendly tourism in the State. Sikkim is a special destination for pilgrimage, adventure, eco-tourism and village tourism with exclusive home stay facilities offered by the local people. Sikkim is indeed an irresistible destination which is mesmerizing, mystical, peaceful and hospitable.
Khajuraho, famous for its magnificent temples and now a world heritage site, was built during 950-1050 AD with great artistic wonders by the Chandelas.

During the year 1976 the Special Area Development Authority was set up and it worked till 1998 as Civil Management Council. In 1999, a Municipal Council was set up by the Madhya Pradesh Government for overall development of the town and it has exceeded the established standards of performance of a normal civic body with active participation of local community and civic bodies. It effectively meets all the challenges created due to the different setup of Khajuraho.

The Council has identified the most effective way to dispose garbage - both biodegradable and non biodegradable by door to door collection in specially built tricycle rickshaw in a segregated form. Sanitary staff engaged in collection is provided with uniform and other protective gears. The City Sanitation Committee has been anchoring the sanitation initiatives in the town and is providing crucial support.
The Sacred India Book explores that ephemeral quality often described as ‘The Spirit of India’. Spirituality is a shining thread running through every motif of the rich, complex tapestry that is India. The Scared India Book seeks out meditative and momentous ones; exalted moments and exultant ones. With breathtaking panoramas, some of which unfold 6 feet wide, the book is path-breaking in its sheer breadth of vision and depth of detail. It is shot by India’s foremost panoramic photographer, Amit Pasricha whose earlier book, The Monumental India Book received the National Tourism Award in 2007-2008.

To showcase the diversity of Karnataka, Karnataka Tourism created various promotional materials including the Traveller, 2010 calendar and leaflets.

The Traveller - a comprehensive tourist information book, had a new look, updated service providers, illustrative stories and interesting trivia.

The calendar was produced to celebrate the 500th year of the Coronation of Sri Krishnadevaraya and to illustrate the true potential of Hampi. Dominating with pictures that were taken in the 1800s and words that told a story, it clearly reflected the mighty empire.

A set of leaflets, carrying updated and extensive information on various destinations, were published in English and other foreign languages.
The handy and informative publicity material by the Department of Tourism, Government of Rajasthan mirrors the amiable people, colourful festivals showcasing the vivid culture of the land and charming destinations offering attractive packages for the tourists. The various publications showcase the new attractions gaining popularity at famous tourist destinations of Rajasthan, while also highlighting the offerings of the less travelled places.

Folders pertaining to individual destinations and festivals, a colourful pictorial booklet as a window to numerous tourists’ attractions, an informative Discover Rajasthan booklet, a Rural Tourism brochure for promoting tourism in selective rural sites and a Rajasthan folder with a comprehensive map and CD containing images of Rajasthan were some of the publications published in 2009-10.

The documentary film, shot in various destinations of the State, brings out the true essence of Karnataka. Encapsulating every facet of Karnataka, it reveals the wonderful World Heritage Sites at Hampi and Pattadakal, the architectural wonders of Hassan, Bidar, Badami and many more. The film also enlightens one on the dense forests and wildlife at Kabini. Divine destinations like Shravanabelagola, Bylekuppe and the like are well documented and pristine beaches at Gokarna well captured. Bengaluru and Mysore come into picture before the curtains come down. The film visually depicts what Karnataka is known as - One state. Many worlds.
Taj Mahal, the symbol of grandeur, beauty and love is undoubtedly one of the finest examples of Mughal architecture in India. One of the Seven Wonders of the Modern World and a UNESCO heritage site, it attracts almost 30% of all foreign tourists to India.

In view of the immense importance of the Taj Mahal, the Department of Tourism, Government of Uttar Pradesh decided to commission an exclusive detailed website of the Taj Mahal.

The website includes many useful features, such as a photo gallery of the ‘Taj’ in its various moods, exclusive video clips of the monument, its history and other details.

The website is also interactive and one can upload his/her comments. Information of other monuments of Agra, details of accommodation, certified guides, along with contact details of Uttar Pradesh Tourism offices in Lucknow and Agra are also provided. The website has now been recognised by UNESCO as one of the three websites of the Taj Mahal.
Red Fort (Lal Qila) which symbolizes the seat of power, was Shah Jahan’s gift to the city of Delhi. It was constructed by the Mughal emperor Shah Jahan as the citadel within the city of Shahjahanabad. The construction was started in 1639 and completed in 1648. The important structures are the Diwan-I-Aam, Mumtaz Mahal, Rang Mahal, Khas Mahal, Musamman-burj, Diwan-I-Khas, Hammam, Moti-Masjid, Hayat-Baksh Bagh, pavilions and Naubat-Khana.

The Red Fort was occupied by the British army, which pulled down several structures and raised new ones. On 15 August, 1947, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, the first Prime Minister of India, unfurled the national flag from the ramparts of the Red Fort.

The village Bhootgarh famous for its wooden Inlay and Lacquer work is located in District Hoshiarpur nearly 7km from Hoshiarpur City.

Nearly 300 years ago the inlay craft traditions become rooted in this region. It is believed that farmers created life through this art as a leisure time activity. They earned increased incomes and gradually became so skilled that the erstwhile rulers, kings and ultimately Government of India recognized many of them as Master Craftsmen.

As on date close to thousand families are engaged in the work associated with the production of wooden handicraft items in the region with most of them belonging to the poorer and marginalized sections of the society.
Operational since June 2000, Jaypee Greens Golf Course is the first Greg Norman designed Golf Course in India. The course has an 18-hole championship layout, designed with the firm belief of setting new standards for Championship Golfing in India.

The design of the course involves the creation of several lakes, bunkers and water bodies. The earth from lakes has been used to generate a dynamic, soft and undulating landform suitable for the laying out of 18 very exciting and challenging holes.

From championship tee, the course is strong and one of the longest in India with a length of 7347 yards.

The course landscaping includes considerable planting of open and closed woodlands, understory scrublands, wetlands and wild-grassed areas. The principle behind the course landscape is to create a very naturalized and private space free from the heat, dust and hustle and bustle outside.

With over half a million footfalls every day, the New Delhi Railway Station is almost a city within a city. Its sixteen platforms handle almost three hundred passenger and express trains every day.

In recent times, this station has witnessed almost a metamorphosis. While a new impressive building for the Ajmeri Gate side has been built, the Pahargunj side entry has undergone major improvements. A thousand seater waiting hall has been created and all platforms have been resurfaced with vacuum dewatered concrete. Provision of sleek signages, true colour LCD displays, digital passenger charts and various other improvements in passenger interface areas have made tremendous difference to the passengers. Besides the long overdue completion of the third foot over bridge has also been completed. The standards of cleanliness have also visibly improved. Various other improvements in passenger amenities have also been brought about thereby bringing about considerable improvement in the passenger satisfaction levels.

Jai Mahal Palace, the former residence of the Prime Minister of the princely state of Jaipur, is steeped in history. The majestic Palace, a vast complex of regal rooms, pretty pavilions and charming colonnades set amidst 18 acres of landscaped gardens, traces its origins to 1745 AD. The stately Moghul Gardens, resonant with the call of peacocks, is a formal, multi-level, quartered garden with pavilions, water channels, flowerbeds, ponds and stone pathways.

Located close to the main shopping centre and historical monuments, Jai Mahal Palace is ideal for exploring the fascinating city of Jaipur. With its blend of history, elegance and luxury, the heritage hotel is a perfect destination for visitors to Jaipur.
Sprawling over 63 acres, The Gateway Hotel Pasumalai Madurai is a seamless blend of 118 year old colonial architecture style rooms and more recent additions. Located on top of a hill, the hotel offers picturesque views of the temple city and the kodai hills. The hotel has tennis and badminton courts as well as table tennis and billiards. The Hotel has an All Day Dining multi-cuisine restaurant, “GAD”, which has both indoor as well as outdoor seating with a breathtaking view of the temple city. The colonial bar, “Harvey’s Lounge”, is located next to the reception area. For a rejuvenating experience, “Nalam”, the Ayurveda Centre, off the poolside will be the ideal choice.
Baker's Bungalow at Kumarakom, Kerala, was built by George Alfred Baker, an Essex missionary, on the banks of the Vembanad Lake, the great backwater that stretches southward from Cochin for more than 70 miles. It was home to four generations of the Baker family who, apart from serving at the Church Mission Society took up large-scale farming, opened schools for the locals and learnt to communicate in fluent Malayalam. When the last Baker, Robert, finally left Kumarakom in 1977, their idyllic house beside the lake was subsequently acquired by the Taj and lovingly transferred into the Vivanta by Taj.

Located on the picturesque Vembanad Lake, Vivanta by Taj-Kumarakom is 30-minute drive from Kottayam railway station or an hour’s drive from Cochin city. Kerala's backwaters surround the 140-year–old colonial bungalow which houses this resort.
Moored on a historic stretch of Cochin’s famed harbour, the Brunton Boatyard Hotel was resurrected on the site of a 19th century boatyard. Today, it gives the modern traveller a unique opportunity to dwell amidst the shadow plays of 19th century history. Brunton Boatyard imbibes the many influences that have made Fort Cochin what it is today and takes you back in time to the eventful past of the centuries old boatyard of Geo Brunton and Sons. When you step into Brunton Boatyard in Fort Cochin, it is like stepping into the distillery of history.

Unexpected and charming, Samode Haveli is a self-contained, intimate, heritage hotel, hidden deep in the folds of the busy streets of old Jaipur.

A nobleman’s urban abode restored to perfection, the Haveli emerges, as if from nowhere at the end of a narrow lane - an oasis of serenity in the depths of the lively city. Whenever you come to visit the treasures of Jaipur, this is the hotel you will want to make your home. A quintessential Indo-Saracenic regal residence, Samode Haveli is seeped in history and tradition, and yet offers its guests contemporary luxuries and the impeccable hospitality and courtesy that are the signature style of the Samode group of hotels.
Coconut Lagoon in Kumarakom, celebrates the simple joys of life. Here, in the midst of the backwaters and the never-ending lake, stands a tile and-timber mansion, a typical traditional Kerala Tharavad, painstakingly transplanted and restored. An architectural marvel, this homestead exudes the charm of the Kerala life of yore, and transports one back in time to a world of peace and contentment. This hotel is another affirmation of the belief that holiday environments are catalysts that can ensure the preservation of the earth and her reserves and one can find the endangered Vechoor cows in their lawns. In fact, environment sensitivity is so close to their hearts that they have devoted a full time director for the same. All of which go a long way to inspire their guests, who see beyond the cow into the far horizon where this treasure trove of nature will await them forever.
