Executive Summary

Background

In order to meet the felt need of a database of Institutions of Higher Education in India and their contact details, the Ministry of Tourism commissioned a study titled “Comprehensive Database for Marketing India as MICE Destination”.

The study aimed at preparing a database of Institutions of Higher Education in India and their contact details. The database was also expected to cover information about Indian associations and their contact details besides International Associations or World Bodies and their contact details. Information for such institutions from three streams namely, Engineering, Medicine and Science besides all CSIR institutions was to be captured in the database. The mid-term review of the progress by the Ministry and the end user India Convention Promotion Bureau (ICPB) was useful in refining the scope of the work in order to match with the requirements of the end-users of the database.

Methodology

Both secondary and primary research techniques were used to get the information. The database was created in systematic manner by first preparing an exhaustive list of Apex Bodies and Universities and then compiling a list and Contact Details of Institutions of Higher Education associated with these Apex Bodies and Universities. For preparing the list of association, areas of specialization within these three streams were identified. Indian and International Associations working in these areas of specialization were generated. The information about these associations was compiled for name, contact details and events organized. In order to ensure accuracy of the data, key facts captured in all database was verified through telephonic discussion. This data was further subjected to redundancy check.

Coverage of Institutions

As mandated, the database focused on three streams namely, Engineering, Medicine and Science besides CSIR Labs. Certain specialized institutions identified during the study were categorized as Specialized Institutions.

All the institutions put together account for nearly nine thousand institutions. Most of these institutions are from the category of institutions of higher education and their universities from the three streams (Science: 39.8%, Medicine: 32.8%, Engineering: 23.7%). Specialized institutions are 58 in number. Contact details of 236 Indian Associations and International associations are also available in the database. The coverage of number of institutions is broadly in line with trend and expected number of institutions with in each stream.

In the Engineering stream, reputed institutions like Technical Universities, IITs, NITs and IIITs have been covered besides other engineering, technology and architecture colleges and institutes. In the medicine stream, Medical Universities, Medical Colleges/ Institutes and Colleges of Allopathy, Ayurveda, Unani and Homeopahty sub-streams are covered besides Dental, Pharmacy and Nursing colleges. In the database of science stream, Colleges/Institutes or Universities (Central, Deemed and State) offering Pure Science, Agriculture, Forestry, Fishery, Horticulture, Dairying or Veterinary Sciences have been covered. Institutions offering courses in specialized areas of knowledge have been covered and categorized as Specialized Institutions. All institutes/ laboratories of the CSIR of the 5 categories Physical Science, Chemical Science, Biological Science, Engineering Science and Information Science have also been covered in the database.

International Association for the purpose of the database includes International Associations, Asian Associations, and Commonwealth Associations if they are associated with an Indian Association or a professional in any manner. All Indian Associations having professional linkage with any International Association or vice versa are covered in the database and the relevant details of both Indian as well as International Association have been captured in the study.

The coverage of institutions across states for each of the three streams and sub-streams of the Institutions shows that institutions across all states have been covered appropriately.

Coverage of Events Organized by Associations

The database captures information on events organized in India either by an Indian Association or by an International Association listed in the database. These are unique events which were organized in past or have been planned by these association in coming months. Number of events organized by different regions does not have a uniform trend across the year.

Specialized Areas Covered for Associations

Initially the focus was on only those associations, which are located or linked to some academic institution. Later it was decided to expand to cover even those associations, which are not located inside and educational institution or is not linked to an educational institution.

Since most of the Associations focus on specialized areas of their respective streams, a comprehensive list of specialized areas was identified and relevant associations were selected in these areas. Twenty-four, forty-six and twenty-eight specialized areas were searched for Associations from engineering medicine and science streams respectively. Many of the identified streams either did not have a relevant Association in India or did not have an association for which credible or adequate information could be found out.

The Database

Based on guidance provided by the Ministry and the ICPB, independent database was prepared for each type of institution. As advised, DRS submitted database of each stream and appropriate sub-streams separately in Microsoft Excel file and in a database file. These database form an integral part of the report.

Accurate information is the key to any database. To improve the quality of the database, the database was checked for accuracy and redundancy. Telephonic verification was undertaken to ensure the accuracy of the information in the database. A mix of software driven and manual method of redundancy removal was undertaken to ensure high standards of data quality.

Database files have been named in such a way that it indicates the stream or sub-stream of the institution covered in the database. The database of Institutions of Higher Education for all streams & sub-streams has been prepared in a consistent format. The database of Indian Associations has also been kept quite similar to the database of Institutions of Higher Education. A simpler database structure was designed for events details. Name and contact details of Indian Association and its office bearers or Indians who are office bearers on International Association has been compiled in the same file. This necessitated that a separate database structure for the Association related database.

Recommendations

DRS believes that this is the most comprehensive database on Institutions of Higher Education and Associations both National and International in the streams of Engineering, Medicine and Science.

The need for keeping the database relevant necessitates updation of the database at an appropriate interval by the Ministry. The Ministry and the ICPB may consider adding next layer of information in the existing database on the infrastructure available with these institutions, which is suited for organizing various types of MICE activities in these institutions itself. This would help in taking MICE activities to various Institutions of Higher Education and would help these institutions in many other ways. A similar database for other streams may also be considered. A database of large private sector companies and PSUs would also be useful in expanding the opportunities of organizing MICE activities.

Background & Methodology

Chapter - I

Background & Methodology

1.1 Background

India has long been known for its impressive history, culture, natural beauty, food and music. The diversity in India from quiet countryside to bustling metropolitan cities makes India a popular tourist destination.

To capitalize on increasing trend of organizing Meetings, Incentives, Conventions and Exhibitions (MICE) activities at exotic location, Incredible India took confident step towards promoting India as a MICE destination in 2007. This effort got further fillip as a large number of infrastructure suited for MICE activities became available with the development of the country and were considered offering services, technology and ambience that are comparable to infrastructure in any other developed destination.

As on date, the important MICE centers in the country are located in New Delhi, Mumbai, Agra, Bangalore, Chennai, Cochin, Goa, Hyderabad, Jaipur and Kolkata. Some important 5 star and 7 star hotel chains at these locations have largely served facilities for MICE activities.

There is lack of clarity on the definition of higher education on the part of Ministry of Human Resource Development and University Grants Commission. Moreover, each state has its norm of looking at this subject. In this proposal DRS considers all the Educational Institutions providing Graduation and or above level education as Institutions of Higher Education.

Based on its evaluation of the agencies and their offers the Ministry of Tourism awarded the study to the Development & Research Services (DRS) aimed at preparing a Comprehensive Database for Marketing India as MICE Destination.

This database was aimed at compiling Institutions of Higher Education in India and their contact details. The database was also to be prepared for Indian associations and their contact details besides International Associations or World Bodies and their contact details that have linkages with Indian Associations or Institutions who have their representatives in the International Association or World Bodies. Under this project, this database is to be prepared for Engineering, Medicine and Science streams besides all CSIR institutions.

1.2 Objectives

The objectives of the assignment were as below:

1. To prepare a list of all the Institutions of Higher Education in India coming under the three segments of the study.
2. To prepare a list of Vice Chancellors/ Directors / Deans of all such Universities/ Institutions for getting details of Professional Associations / Societies based in these Universities/ Institutions.

3. List of the Heads of Institutions/ Departments of these disciplines/ subjects.
4. To compile a list of Indian associations affiliated to International Associations/ World Bodies in their specialized domain knowledge.
5. To compile a list of Office Bearers of the Indian Associations who are on the Governing Council/ Governing Boards of International Associations/ World Bodies.

1.3 Scope of Work

This was an exploratory research that evolved around the broad contours defined under the objectives of the study. The end use of the data was kept in mind while compiling the data under this study. The mid-term review of the progress by the Ministry and the end user India Convention Promotion Bureau (ICPB) was very useful in refining the scope of the work in order to match with the requirements of the end-users of the database.

Based on guidance provided by the client and end user of the database, the final deliverables of the database as per the scope within the three streams of educational institutions evolved as listed below:

- Database of Institutions of Higher Education along with address and contacts details of the institution and the key officials.
- Database of CSIR Labs along with address and contacts details of the institution and the key officials.
- Database of Indian Associations or India Chapter of International Associations located in Various Educational Institutions or elsewhere along with address and contacts details of the Association from where the Association operates and its relevant key officials/ head of the department of the institution/ India representative.
- Database of International Associations, which has an office bearer from Indian Association or has a representative from India is covered in the study. DRS decided to include even those International Associations in this database, which has representation from India irrespective of whether the representation is in institutional capacity or in individual capacity. Some of the International Associations that collaborates with Indian Associations from time to time have also been included in the database.
- List of events organized recently or forthcoming events of International Association where one of the office bearers is from an Indian Institution or an Indian Association. The list of events of their respective Indian Associations or Institution was also to be prepared.

DRS is under the advice to submit database of each stream and appropriate sub-stream separately in Microsoft Excel file and a database file.

1.4 Methodology for Project Execution

The study used both secondary and primary research techniques to get the information. The systematic approach used for collecting information for this study is described below:

Step-I: Preparation of an exhaustive list of Apex Bodies and Universities

Almost all Institutions of Higher Education in India are registered with at least one apex body that is in the form of either an Association or a Council or a Commission or some other similar body. DRS as a first step for this study prepared a list as exhaustive as possible of such apex bodies from three streams – Engineering/ technology, Medicine and Science. As the next step, a list of universities or premium institutions affiliated with these apex bodies was prepared. In addition to this, a list of all CSIR labs/ research stations was also compiled.

Step-II: Compilation of a list of the Institutions and Contact Details of Higher Education from Apex Bodies

Website of Apex Bodies, Universities and Specialized Institutions under these Apex bodies identified in Step-I as above were scanned to get a list of Institutions offering graduation or higher-level courses. The website of apex bodies where such a list did not exist on the website, the apex bodies were approached to get a list of institutions of higher education affiliated with them and their contact details. A number of institutions located in Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh were approached for obtaining the details of the institutions of higher education.

Step-III: Obtaining information about the Indian and International Associations

For searching data about Associations, name of the areas of specialization was identified and a list of both Indian and International Associations working in these specialized areas was generated. These associations were later segregated into Indian and International Associations. At this stage, a two-pronged strategy was adopted to search for the International and Indian Association related data. The search for contact details and linkages between Indian Associations and International Associations were found by browsing websites of both the Indian Associations and the International Associations. If any International Association was found on the website for which Indian Association could not be found, DRS checked their branch, affiliations, office bearers' and members' list to get the details of the Indian Association, if available. Similarly, if an Indian Association was found for which International Association and their linkages with Indian Associations were not known, the website of the Indian Association was mined to get the details of International Association.

During the research, it was found that some of the Associations operate from the office of the President or Secretary General of the Association and no other address is available. Details of such associations were also included in the database.

Only a small number of office bearers of Indian Association seem to be on the governing council of an International Association. The key objective of this exercise as understood during the project is to find linkages in International Associations. Keeping this in mind all the relevant institutions were covered in the study.

Step-IV: Confirmation of the Contact Details

DRS approached all Apex Bodies, Tier-II Apex bodies/ Universities, Autonomous Institutions or Specialized Institutions on phone to validate the contact person's name, designation, and contact details like phone number, fax number, mail id, web address etc.

It was targeted to verified contact details for institutions of higher education on a uniform priority basis in each state. Institutions of higher education located at state capital, tier-II cities and important centers of education for a specific stream was covered on the priority basis for verification. Attempt was made to ensure that key information of institutions located at important places in each state must be verified. The contact details of at least 25% of the Institutions of higher education have been verified.

1.5 Streams and Apex Institutions Covered in the Database

As mandated, the database focused on 3 streams – Engineering, Medicine and Science besides CSIR Labs and institutions. In order to get higher and relevant coverage of institutions, DRS selecting following apex bodies/ institutions in these three streams:

- i. Universities and Colleges recognized by University Grants Commission (UGC)
- ii. Educational Institutions recognized by Association of Indian Universities (AIU)
- iii. Educational Institutions regulated by All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE)
- iv. Indian Institute of Technology (IIT)
- v. National Institute of Technology (NIT)

- vii. Medical Educational Institutions bodies like MCI and other similar organizations working as an apex body in their respective areas of specialization
 - a. MBBS Colleges (Medical Council of India)
 - b. Dental Colleges (Dental Council of India)
 - c. Homeopathy colleges (Central Council of Homeopathy)
 - d. Nursing Colleges (Nursing Council of India, Indian Nursing Council)
 - e. Pharmacy colleges (Pharmacy Council of India)

 - b. Agricultural universities
- ix. General Universities
- x. Affiliated or Constituent Colleges of Universities under UGC
- xi. CSIR – institutions and laboratories
- xii. All other specialized categories of institutions identified during the process of research

1.6 Report Structure

Since this project required creation of database, there is not much analysis except coverage analysis. The report therefore, has been organized in four chapters – Background and Methodology, Coverage of Institutions in the Database, The database and Recommendation. The key information about the institutions and events are presented in the Annexes. Softcopy of the database has also been submitted along with the report and this database is an integral part of the report.

Coverage of Institutions in the Database

2.1 Overall Coverage

The study covered Institutions of higher education from three streams, namely Engineering, Medicine and Science. The institutions from allied areas were also covered. Certain specialized institutions identified during the study have been included as a separate category of institutions of higher education besides CSIR Labs. Coverage of the institutions has been presented in this chapter.

All these institutions put together account for nearly nine thousand institutions. Most of these institutions are from the category of institutions of higher education and their universities from the three streams (Science: 39.8%, Medicine: 32.8%, Engineering: 23.7%). Specialized institutions are 58 in number. Contact details of 236 Indian Associations and International associations are available in the database. The coverage of number of institutions is broadly in line with trend and expected number of institutions with in each stream.

Table: 1: Overall Coverage Status of Institutions

2.2 Coverage of Institution by Stream

2.2.1 Coverage under Engineering Steam

In this stream, reputed institutions like IITs, NITs and IIITs have been covered besides other engineering, technology and architecture colleges and institutes. The technical universities have also been covered under Engineering as a separate category of institution. Breakdown of various types of institutions covered under engineering stream are as below:

Table: 2: Coverage Status of Institutions – Engineering Stream

Particulars	No. of Institutions	Percent of Total
Technical Universities	35	2
IIT, NIT and IIT	40	2
Engineering Colleges/ Institutes	1808	87
Architecture Colleges/ Institutes	207	10
Total	2090	100

Note: Individual percentages may not add up to 100%

These numbers are in-line with the expected number of institutions in these sub-streams.

2.2.2 Coverage under Medicine Steam

While some of the medical colleges offer only graduation level courses, some offer both graduation and post-graduation level courses, and some offer only post-graduation level courses. The attempt has been made to ensure that the name of these educational institutions do not appear twice in the database. In case of dental colleges, it was noticed that while some medical colleges offer dental courses, there are also dental colleges offering courses only in dental education. Here also attempt has been made to include only unique institutions in the database. Nursing courses are offered by a large number of the hospitals or medical colleges and educational institutions dedicated to this stream of education. However, courses offered at many of the medical colleges are only short-term courses and are not of graduation or higher-level courses. Only those colleges or institutes have been included in the database that offers at least one graduation or post-graduation level course.

Nursing colleges alone account for 45% of institutions of higher education under this stream. Pharmacy colleges and Institutes account for 18% of the institutions in this stream. While Allopathy Medical colleges, institutes and universities account for 15% of the total institutions under Medicine stream, 10% of the institutions are from Ayurvedic or Unani medical colleges, 5% of the institutions are Homeopathy medical colleges.

The sub-stream wise number of institutions covered under medicine is in the table No.3.

Table: 3: Coverage Status of Institutions – Medicine Stream

Particulars	No. of Institutions	Percent of Total
Medical Colleges/ Institutes / Universities – Allopathy	435	15
Dental Colleges/ Institutes	178	6
Ayurveda & Unani Colleges/ Institutes/ Universities	290	10
Homeopathy Colleges/ Institutes/ Universities	156	5
Nursing Colleges/ Institutes	1303	45
Pharmacy Colleges/ Institutes	523	18
Total	2885	100

Note: Individual percentages may not add up to 100%

2.2.3 Coverage under Science Steam:

Each state has a number of state universities. In some states deemed universities and central universities are also functional. All such universities itself besides its constituent or affiliated colleges offering courses of graduation or higher level in science stream are covered in this stream. Here Colleges, Institutes or Universities offering Agriculture, Forestry, Fishery, Horticulture, Dairying or Veterinary Sciences have also been covered in the database of this stream.

Table: 4: Coverage Status of Institutions – Science Stream

Particulars	No. of Institutions	Percent of Total
General Universities (State/Deemed/Central Universities)	239	7
General Science Colleges	3125	89
Agriculture & allied subject colleges/ institutes/ universities	138	4
Total	3502	100

General Science Colleges and universities together account for 96% of the total institutions covered under this steam. The General Science Colleges account for as much as 89% of the total number of institutions covered under science stream. The breakdown of number of such institutions by sub-stream is presented below:

2.2.4 Coverage under Specialized Institutions and CSIR Labs

During the process of database creation, it was noticed that there are some institutions offering courses in specialized areas of knowledge. These institutions have been categorized as specialized institutions. As many as 58 such institutions were identified during the project.

All institutes/ laboratories of the CSIR of the 5 categories Physical Science, Chemical Science, Biological Science, Engineering Science and Information Science have been covered in the database.

Table: 5: Coverage Status of Institutions – Specialized Institutions & CSIR Labs

Particulars	No. of Institutions	Percent of Total
Institution of Higher Education - Specialized Institutions	58	60
CSIR Labs	38	40
Total	96	100

2.2.5 Coverage under Associations

International Association for the purpose of the database includes International Associations, Asian Associations, and Commonwealth Associations if they are associated with Indian Association. The database of International Associations covers those associations, which have an office bearer from an Indian Association or has a representative from India. DRS decided to include International Associations in this database irrespective of the fact whether the representation is in institutional capacity or in individual capacity. Some of the International Associations that collaborates with Indian Associations from time to time have also been included in the database.

The Indian Association in the database includes those institutions for which contact details could be found. The associations that have only website and vague address are excluded from the database. The database of Indian Associations includes those associations that are located within the campus of some institution of higher education or office of some professional in an institution of higher education. Even those Indian Associations that are operating from locations other than an institution of higher education are covered in the database.

During the study, it was realized that linkage of Indian association with the International Association is the key to the database and it can be found out through membership of Indian Association to International Association, office bearers of Indian Association being on the governing council/ select committee of the International Association. India is also represented in International Association through India Chapter of the International Association, representation by prominent Indian professionals who are on the board of the International Association. In case, there was one Indian Association having affiliation with multiple International Associations, each International Association has been covered in the database. Similarly, if an International Association has affiliation with multiple Indian Associations each Indian Association has been covered in the database.

Therefore, all International Association for which linkages in India could be found through any of these methods have been covered in the database and the relevant details of both Indian as well as International Association were captured in the study.

2.3.4 Coverage of Events of Indian and International Associations

A separate list of events for Indian and International Associations having linkage with each other has been prepared. The list of events includes those events, which were organized in India either by the Indian Association or by International Association. These are unique events which were organized in past or have been planned in coming months.

Table: 10: Summary of Events by Location and Stream

Region	Location	Medical	Engineering	Scientific	Total
North	NCR (Delhi)	6	5	6	17
	Lucknow	3	0	1	4
	Other Locations	0	1	5	6
	Sub-total	9	6	12	27
South	Chennai	3	0	4	7

	Ahmedabad	2	2		4
	Other Location	2		4	6
	Sub-total	5	6	9	20
	Total	33	14	50	97

A unique trend emerges from the location of the events organized. A large number of events are organized in South region states followed by North region and West region. A much smaller number of events are organized in East region states. While a large number of events are organized at only a few locations in North, it is highly spread out in South with Bangalore taking the lead in organizing events.

A closer look at the event organization trend across the months of the year shows that while the North organizes events almost equally in each quarter. This trend is not noticeable in other regions. While most of the event in South region states and Eastern regions states are organized in Quarter 3 and Quarter 4. A disproportionately large number of events are organized in Q3 in West region states.

Table: 11: Summary of Events by Location and Quarter

The complete list of planned or organized events of International Association and Indian Association can be referred to in Annexure-II. The list has been organized by zone, stream and year of event.

Information on International Events planned or organized in India is presented in Annexure-II

2.4 Specialized Areas Covered for Associations

Most of the Associations are focused on specialized areas in each stream. Therefore, a comprehensive list of specialized areas was generated through searching for specializations offered in academic institutions or specialization of faculty in reputed academic institutions. Indian Associations from specialized domains within each stream for which a physical address and contact details were available are covered in the database. It may be noted that either many of these identified streams did not have relevant association in India or did not have credible or adequate information about some of the associations could not be found.

The International Associations having any linkage with Indian Associations or Indian Professionals have also been covered in the database of Associations. These linkages are of either in the form of India Chapter of the International Association, or in the form of Indian Association, which is a member Association of an International Association or an Association that collaborates with an International Association from time to time.

Initially the focus was on only those institutions, which are located or linked to some academic institution, later on it was expanded on even those associations, which are not located inside or linked to an educational institution.

Chapter – III

The Database

3.1 Database Quality

To improve the quality of the database, the quality issues have been addressed at two levels – i) accuracy of data and ii) redundancy removal.

Tele-calling was used for verifying key information in the database. This proved useful in improving authenticity of the data. A mix of software driven redundancy removal measures and manual exercise of removing redundant data like duplicate records has ensured that the database meets the high standards of quality.

Table: 12: Verification Status of Institutions Covered in the Database

Sl.	Type of Institution	Number of Institution Covered	Information Verified (No.)	Information Verified (%)

TOTAL		8729	2949	34

The data of any database must be updated to enhance its usability. In order to achieve this, the database was validated through telephonic calls. Most of the validations required multiple calls. The achieved level of verification of key information like name, address and contact details etc. is in line with the planned verification. In the verification, preference was given to the institutions that stand higher chances of being approached for organizing events.

While the entire Tier-I and Tier-II Apex organizations were contacted several times, a few institution details could not be verified.

Since a large number of institutions were covered in the other stream. They were prioritized for verification with in each state. Institutions located at the state capital, other towns with higher population and location that have emerged educational center were given preference within each sub-stream.

Chapter – IV
Recommendations

Chapter – IV

Recommendations

DRS believe that this is the most comprehensive database on Institutions of Higher Education and Associations both National and International in the streams of Engineering, Medicine and Science. Considering the fact that many of the contact details especially of the key officials and office bearers is likely to change from time to time, the need to keep the database relevant over a period of time should not be undermined. Appropriate measures may be taken to keep it relevant in future as well.

This database is just the beginning of an organized effort to promote MICE activities in select streams. As of now most of the MICE activities are limited to only few large cities. The Ministry and the ICPB may consider adding next layer of information in the existing database on the infrastructure available with these institutions, which is suited for organizing various types of MICE activities in these institutions itself. This would help in taking MICE activities to various Institutions of Higher Education. This would also be useful in improving the exposure level of institutions of higher education to such activities, creating vibrant educational environment at the institution level in the respective streams and in improving the financial condition of the institutions.

A similar database for other streams where various events are organized often may also be considered. Similar database of large private sector companies, PSUs would also be useful in expanding the opportunities of organizing MICE activities.
